A Note From Our Managing Partner

Welcome to the first edition of the Journal – an insider look into Johnson O'Connor, one of Boston's premier accounting, tax and advisory firms. We have an enthusiastic, dynamic, and caring culture that is hard to find in business today and something of which we are very proud. We're a people-centric firm in which there is a deep trust and respect among all of our employees – from partners to our professional staff and administrative support team.

In addition, we pride ourselves on our supportive and collaborative work environment. Everyone's voice is heard at Johnson O'Connor, and everyone has a role in our wide array of mentoring programs and company committees. We are also passionate about extending ourselves and our time beyond the office through volunteering and supporting various community groups and charitable organizations.

Enjoy learning a little bit about us. If you have any questions or feedback, please contact me directly.

Happy reading!

Stephen J. Feron, CPA
