“What makes a burger so special is that it can be enjoyed plain or topped with literally anything. I can eat a burger every single day and not have the same meal twice.

Dan joined the firm in 2020. He has nearly twenty years of experience in public accounting and private industry. He focuses on delivering assurance and accounting services to clients in varied industries, including manufacturing and distribution, consumer products, professional services, nonprofits, and employee benefit plans.

Outside The Office

Dan enjoys dining out with his family, listening to music of nearly any genre, and watching football and basketball.
